I often travel the South Gippsland Highway from Melbourne to Foster. Over the last 5 years I have noticed that the road surface is in poor repair, but there has been extensive investment in wire rope barriers (wrbs). My wife and I often comment that if the road was in better condition, there would be less need for dangerous furniture like wrbs. In parts of the road I feel like we are driving in a tunnel of wrbs. Please reconsider the investment being made. It seems to me that the condition of the road is being overlooked in the interests of wrbs, reflective signage for direction that is terribly distracting at night, rumble strips, lowered speed limits and anything else but fixing the condition of the roads! Thank you.
