Health and welfare groups at hearing on early childhood engagement of diverse communities

On Monday 28 October 2019, a range of organisations will be presenting at the next public hearing for the parliamentary inquiry into early childhood engagement of culturally and linguistically diverse communities.

The public hearing will be held from 9:45 am to 4:15 pm at 55 St Andrews Place, East Melbourne. The media and public are welcome to attend.

Among those presenting to the Legislative Assembly’s Legal and Social Issues Committee will be Foundation House, the Murdoch Children’s Research Institute and the Victorian Council of Social Service.

The Committee will also hear from organisations with a specific focus on multicultural services.

The inquiry is examining the experiences of and programs available for children from culturally diverse backgrounds. It is focusing on young children’s involvement in health services, early childhood education and care, early years of schooling, local community programs, and child and family support services.

The schedule for the hearing is available from the Committee’s website.
