To Whom This May Concern

I had the unenviable job of watching my beautiful 98 year old Mum die a torturous death because doctors and nurses were not ‘allowed’ to ‘assist’ my mothers death. She died a slow and painful death of starvation and dehydration as she could no longer swallow. This was so distressing for both her and myself to go through. Yet we were constantly told that nothing could be done!

My mother lived an extraordinary life with great dignity. To see her die with no dignity is something no one should have to witness of a loved one.

The laws governing end of life choices are inadequate and outdated.

Why can we choose our animals to die a dignified death yet have to watch our loved ones die in torment?

Why are we showing our loved ones such disrespect at the end of their lives?
