I believe that a person’s right to end their life is as important as a person’s right to life. Without this choice the idea of free choice and responsibility for self through life is taken away.

Under controlled circumstances I hope that people can choose to exit the world in a way that is civilized and positive and not in desperate agony.

I hope that when I or a family member have to make this heart-wrenching decision that it can be done in a legal and civilized way. I hope that this time never comes but if it does it would be preferable to have legal choices.

If an animal suffers we put it down to be humane. If a human suffers then the human must endure. If it is free choice not to suffer than that should be respected.

Thank you for looking at this submission

File1:

File2:

File3: