Victorian Budget 2019-20
The Hon Richard Wynne MP
Minister for Housing
The Andrews’ Labor Government 2019-20 State Budget is investing $418 million in housing services, programs and initiatives to provide housing and community services to Victorians in need.

This includes:

- Over $208 million to deliver housing services to Victorians
- Over $209 million to expand the available public housing stock

Since it was elected five years ago, the Andrews Labor Government has invested over $1.2 billion in homelessness and housing services and infrastructure.
In 2019-20, the Andrews’ Labor government has a target investment of $648 million in housing assistance.

This investment constitutes a 13% increase compared to the 2018-19 target, and a 62% increase compared to the target 5 years ago.

Target investment for the last five budgets handed down by the Andrews Labor government
The Andrews’ Labor Government will fund $209.1 million towards the construction of 1,000 new public housing properties.

This initiative will:

- directly assist Victorians escaping from family violence, homelessness and life on the streets
- help alleviate pressure on the public housing waiting list
- stimulate construction activity in Victoria, with an estimated 650 additional jobs being created during the construction stage.
The Andrews’ Labor Government is helping more people who are homeless to find a safe place to stay, with more than $50.4 million for homelessness services.

• This money will continue to support on-site treatment services in crisis supported accommodation, provide continuity to the private rental assistance program for over 6,000 vulnerable Victorians and continue the state-wide homelessness after-hours crisis services.

• The commitment includes continuing support for the Kangan Education First Youth Foyer that supports 40 young people who have experienced homelessness to achieve their life and career goals.

This year’s budget also includes $103.5 million in funding through the National Housing and Homelessness Agreement.

• This money will ensure funding certainty for over 48 agencies delivering services to people experiencing or at risk of homelessness, including early intervention, housing and support and homelessness prevention.
Women and children escaping family violence are also prioritised, with an additional $23.9 million over four years to ensure they continue to receive the support they need.

This includes more than $13 million over four years to improve the services available at recently redeveloped refuges. These refuges offer independent crisis accommodation and support services for women and children who have to leave their homes because of family violence.

Also, as part of this package, $5.3 million over two years will fund support for victim survivors in emergency accommodation to be safe, supported and connected to the right services.
To ensure safer housing the Andrews’ Labor Government has announced:

- Over $30.8 million to continue the Open-flue gas heater replacement regime, with the aim of removing all Vulcan Heritage and Pyrox gas heaters from public housing.

- The Victorian Government will also be ensuring thousands of Victorians are living in safely heated properties by investing in its program of servicing gas heaters.
