Re: Public Health and Wellbeing Amendment Bill 2015 ( No Jab no Play)

Note: Please keep my name and address confidential

I am writing to voice my objection to this proposed legislation, seeking to exclude unvaccinated( either completely or partial) from attendance at daycare centres and preschools. This is an innately unethical and divisive bill, which discriminates against children who have every right to an education. In 2008, Victoria signed a National Partnership Agreement on Universal Access to Early Childhood Education ( in association with the Commonwealth and the other states and territories) Exclusion of unvaccinated or partially unvaccinated children clearly disadvantages them. And more so if they are already financially or socially vulnerable. It has been proven that for disadvantaged children, access to childcare improves their social and educational outcomes.

Vaccination is a medical procedure. As such, consent must be obtained. It is a fundamental human right to consent - or not - to a medical procedure, vaccination included.

Vaccination also carries with it a distinct risk of liability, as there is risk of vaccine injury and death with every vaccine.

In the United States of America there is a compensation system for parents who have vaccine damaged children. Since the introduction of this scheme over $2.5 billion have been awarded to families who have experienced death due to vaccines or vaccine injury. VAERS acknowledge that only 1-10% of vaccine injuries and deaths are actually reported to a government database. (This is far from the '1 in a million' phrase we hear repeatedly in the media regarding vaccine injury )

Most concerning is the fact that Australia has NO such compensation scheme. How can this not ring alarm bells as to the inethical, immoral, and potentially illegal nature of this proposed legislation?

I have vaccine injured children myself. I also have friends who have lost children. Their children paid the ultimate price for the 'risk'. I have friends who are currently supporting vaccine injured children, like myself.

There is no way on this earth that I, or my friends, would ever consider further vaccinating our children when we have seen the result of vaccine injury first hand. How stupid do the government and the pharmaceutical lobbyists think we are?

Where there is a risk ( which to my children was 100%), there must be a choice. The willingness of the media, in particular, and many other high profile characters in government , to gloss over this risk and to belittle the possibility and extent of this damage is vile. The attitude is, ‘Oh, it is perfectly fine for it to happen to you. ‘ And not even a thankyou for ‘taking one for the team’.

Not only are vaccine damaged children and adults routinely ignored by the medical establishment, with the parents left to pick up all the pieces, now there is further discrimination against us and others to vaccinate further!! This feels evil.

Please understand that the vaccine injured are not that small in number and, unfortunately, are growing. These people are not going away and will not take this lying down.

So, it is more likely, then, that those who have clear and conscientious reasons for not vaccinating, will have children who will remain unvaccinated but will miss preschool.

It would be unwise to disregard the notion that a grassroots movement will mount a court case against this discriminatory action.

Thankyou for serious consideration of this submission.

Sincerely
