

Sophie Jeffries

Tuesday 29th September 2015

Dear Sir/Madame, Ms Jill Hennessy,

SUBMISSION: Public Health and Well Being Amendment (No Jab, No Play) Bill 2015

My will regarding the proposed Victorian Public Health and Well Being Amendment (No Jab, No Play) Bill 2015.

I strongly object to the proposed 'No Jab No Play' bill 2015. Should this bill be passed I would be coerced into vaccinating my children according to the Australian immunisation schedule so that they can attend kindergarten.

I have researched this topic most thoroughly and feel satisfied that vaccinating according to schedule poses very real threats, both in the short and long term to the valued health of my children.

My children will be completely immunised against all concerning childhood diseases using homeoprophylaxis, which is both safe and effective.

I see no reason why my children should be denied either childcare or kindergarten because of a misguided and manipulative policy that has not investigated the far reaching consequences of childhood pharmaceutical vaccination.

Coercing parents, who value their children's health enough to inform themselves of the dangers of vaccines, to vaccinate in order to gain a childcare or kindergarten place is unfair, unjust, and discriminatory.

If such a policy must be passed there should be options to:

- Delay vaccination
- Vaccinate selectively according to each child's needs
- Receive individual vaccines such as just the measles vaccine rather than MMR in order to allow better spacing of the vaccines and decrease the chances of adverse reactions.
- Homeoprophylaxis immunisation should be included as a completely valid option.

A 'one size fits all' approach to vaccination is unsafe and unnecessary.

I understand and commend the desire to protect children from disease. However as vaccinations are inherently unsafe, the proposed policy is a misguided attempt to improve the health and well being of the children of Victoria.

I urge you to further research the vaccination topic and to rethink and stop your support of the proposed 'No Jab No Play' policy.

As a way to begin your further research please look to the work of

Dr Suzanne Humphries: <http://drsuzanne.net>

Or read this article about Whooping Cough that cites studies by the FDA.

<http://www.jeremyhammond.com/2015/09/14/the-ugly-untold-truth-about-the-pertussis-vaccine/>

Yours sincerely,

Sophie Jeffries