- (1) Can the minister give assurance that physiotherapists will not be required to become network providers.
 - (2) Can the minister give an assurance that chiropractors will not be required to become network providers.
 - (3) Can the minister give an assurance that osteopaths will not be required to become network providers.
 - (4) Can the minister give an assurance that occupational therapists will not be required to become network providers.

ANSWER:

I am informed that:

The network provider initiative was piloted in 2008, to provide ease of access to quality health-care services, improve health and return to work outcomes and increase the skills and experience of providers in the treatment of injured workers and TAC clients.

The initiative continues to be piloted with physiotherapists, occupational therapists and pain management providers.

The network initiative sits alongside other health and medical services enhancing injured workers’ and TAC clients’ choice of provider.

There is no requirement that an injured worker or TAC client use a network provider.

There are no plans to require physiotherapists, occupational therapists, chiropractors or osteopaths to become a network provider to offer service to injured workers and TAC clients in the Bendigo area.

Regional and rural development: Fortuna Villa site, Bendigo — future

2604. Ms ALLAN to ask the Minister for Regional and Rural Development with reference to the Fortuna Villa site:

- (1) Does the government support the retention of Fortuna Villa as an asset to be used by the local community; if not, why has the government required a volunteer community group to prepare a business plan when it has not made a commitment to the future of the site.
- (2) Has the government repeated the expression of interest made by the previous Labor government to the Australian government regarding the site since the November 2010 election; if so, is the government prepared to make a financial contribution towards the restoration of the site.

ANSWER:

I can confirm that:

- (1) Whilst the state understands local aspirations for Fortuna Villa this is a commonwealth-owned asset and as such, the future of the site rests with the commonwealth government.
- (2) The Victorian government honoured the previous Labor government's concessional purchase priority submission and requested that the commonwealth government consider this submission accordingly.

The commonwealth government recently advised the state that it had declined the concessional purchase priority submission. As such, the issue of the Victorian government's preparedness to make a financial contribution towards the restoration of the site is redundant in the absence of partnership commonwealth funding and it is now up to the commonwealth government to advise the Bendigo community of its future intent for the site.

Education: capital funding — criterion

2606. Ms NEVILLE to ask the Minister for Education what criterion are used to assess the allocation of capital funding to rebuild Victorian State Primary Schools, and what criteria has Portarlington Primary School met.

ANSWER:

I am informed as follows:

Priority projects included in the capital works program for the first term of government are identified in the Victorian Liberal Nationals Coalition Plan for Education, released in November 2010. Further schools were identified for capital funding in the Victorian state budget 2011–12, released on 3 May 2011.

The Victorian coalition government is aware that schools like Portarlinton Primary School have been involved in planning for building projects under the previous government's capital works program. Unfortunately, current state budget constraints do not allow for all school building projects to be immediately funded, therefore, the needs of all schools across the state must be balanced and prioritised accordingly. The capital needs of all schools will be considered throughout state budget processes and when determining future priorities for the state government's capital works program.
