ANSWERS TO CONSTITUENCY QUESTIONS

Answers have been incorporated in the form supplied by the departments on behalf of the appropriate ministers and received by Hansard in the period shown.

4 September to 17 September 2015Western Metropolitan Region

Question asked by: Mr Melhem
Directed to: Minister for Police
Asked on: 1 September 2015

ANSWER:

I advise that the Andrews Labor Government is investing $148.6 million over four years to redeploy 400 police to our communities where they are needed. This will occur by recruiting, training and deploying 400 police custody officers to supervise people in police custody at an initial 22 police stations across Victoria.

Sunshine will be among the first police stations to receive police custody officers along with Ballarat, Broadmeadows, Dandenong, Geelong and Heidelberg.

Police custody officers will undertake custody management duties including processing and supervising detained people, managing visitors to police cells, facilitating access to health services and appearance before court.

I can assure you that the government works closely with the Chief Commissioner to ensure Victoria Police is appropriately resourced to tackle law and order issues facing the Victorian community, including family violence and the use of ice and other illicit drugs.

The Andrews Labor Government's first budget in 2015-16 delivered a record $2.5 billion to Victoria Police to continue their important work in keeping our community safe.

In addition, actions to address the key drivers of crime were also announced in the 2015-16 State Budget, with the government investing $81.3 million to boost family violence support services and protect victims, including $40 million for the Royal Commission into Family Violence and $4 million to support stakeholder engagement.

On 5 March 2015, the government released the Ice Action Plan which was developed on the advice of the Premier's Ice Action Taskforce. The government's new investment of $45.5 million, also outlined in the State Budget, focuses on priority initiatives to reduce the supply, demand and harm of a drug that is ruining lives.

The government also understands the impact crime has on local communities and believes that a comprehensive and multi-layered approach needs to be taken to prevent crime. One of the most important approaches to keeping the communities safe is to provide young people with opportunities to encourage them to make positive choices for their future, through education, training, jobs and appropriate support, instead of being caught in a cycle of crime and incarceration.

I trust this information is of assistance.
